What is Find My network?

Works with
Apple Find My

The Apple Find My network is a vast and powerful location-based service that leverages the collective power of millions of Apple devices worldwide. When you connect your device to the Find My network, it gains the ability to be located using nearby Apple devices even when it's offline. This network ensures that your valuable items, such as MiLi Find My products or any other Find My-enabled product, can always be located. Should you misplace your item, the network of Apple devices nearby can securely and anonymously relay its location to you. Your privacy is always maintained as the entire process is encrypted and anonymous, ensuring that no one, not even Apple, knows the identity of the reporting device or the item's owner.

Works with Android
Find My Device

The Android Find My Device network is a Google service designed to help users locate their lost or stolen Android devices, such as smartphones, tablets, or wearables. It uses various technologies like GPS, Wi-Fi, and cellular networks to pinpoint the device's location. Key features include the ability to see the device's last known location on a map, play a sound to help find it (even if it's on silent), remotely lock the device and display a message, and erase all data if the device cannot be recovered. The network can also locate devices that are offline or out of battery, thanks to a crowdsourced network of other Android devices.
